

DjBomba Boi

My name is Daniel Rosario known as DjBomba. The Dominican Republic is my country of origin. I moved to Switzerland in July 1991.

When you really love something, you don't have to think twice. It catches you without you realising it.

It becomes a staple in your life - like food or water, and you. You can't imagine it to live without it. It's a part of you. That's how music is to me. I love music and this essay is about my passion for it.

Music was already becoming a part of my life in the 2000's.

At first I wanted to be a percussionist. But then I heard the Remix "Tomixiao" which is an excellent Dominican Mix. My passion was defined, I decided to become a Dj producer

In summer 2003 when I received the opportunity to mix in Havanna Cafe Bar in Biel (City in Switzerland) my passion began.

I am happy to live my passion.

In 2008 I created my first home Studio

In 2012, after completing my basic sound engineering I created my professional music Studio.
